

2020-2021 Ocean County Housing Resource Guide

Prepared by:
Ocean County Department of Human Services

In collaboration with:
Ocean County Office of Senior Services & Ocean County Board of Social Services

Revised 10/20

NOTE!

The Housing Resource Guide of Ocean County was created by the Ocean County Human Services Advisory Council. Some agencies may have a waitlist for housing with no guarantee on length or availability of services. This guide is strictly informational and in no way indicates an endorsement, nor does the absence of a service or agency from this list signify disapproval. Each listing, within a section, is categorized according to the populations served and the type of assistance offered.

Type of Assistance Offered

Site: These are physical sites of housing (or main offices of housing sites) that are available to eligible applicants.

Services: This indicates that the listing provides some kind of service to its clients that is relevant to the category it is under, for example- medication monitoring, counseling, supervision, credit counseling, legal services, etc.

Financial Assistance: This indicates that monetary assistance may be available for eligible applicants. This may be one time only, limited or extended, direct to client or indirect (to mortgage company, landlord, etc.).

Information and/or Advocacy: These agencies or organizations can provide information about local resources and guidance. Some agencies will also advocate on your behalf.

Populations Served

Seniors: In general, senior -for eligibility purposes- are those age 60 (Older Americans Act) and older. Some organizations recognize seniors as early as age 55. Contact the specific organization, or facility to find out its age requirements.

Disabilities: Disability refers to a person who has a physical or mental impairment that substantially limits one or more major life activity.

SSI Recipient: Supplemental Security Income (SSI) is a Federal income supplement program funded by general tax revenues. It is designed to help individuals with age, vision, mental, or physical impairments who have little or no income by providing cash to meet basic needs for food, clothing, and shelter.

Mental Health: Individuals who are diagnosed with a mental health disorder by his/her/their medical doctor or psychiatrist may qualify for certain services. Some individuals may also qualify for disability services, depending on the severity.

Low Income: Low income is defined as at or below 50 percent of median family income. Specific income level requirements vary between programs. Contact the specific organization or facility to find out its income requirements.

Assisted Living Residence

The heading “Assisted Living Residence” means a facility, which is licensed by the NJ Department of Health and Senior Services, to provide apartment-style housing and congregate dining, and to assure that assisted-living services are available when needed for four or more adult persons unrelated to the proprietor. Apartment units offer, at a minimum, one unfurnished room, a private bathroom, a kitchenette and a lockable door on the unit entrance.

Congregate Apartments

Congregate apartment housing is specifically designed multi-housing for independent to semi-independent people, and includes community social and dining facilities. Individual units include, at minimum, a living room/bedroom, bathroom and kitchenette. These facilities offer at least one hot meal per day and some housekeeping services. Transportation and personal assistance services may also be available, with fees included or billed separately. Currently, there is no specific licensing for congregate housing. Congregate apartment housing can be found in both market-rate and subsidized facilities for the elderly.

Continuing Care Retirement Communities

Continuing care retirement communities (CCRC) provide housing, services and health care (including long-term care) to people of retirement age. A CCRC regulated by the NJ Department of Community Affairs must provide increasing levels of care according to the needs of the individual residents, beginning with independent living and a variety of health and nursing services. Meals, housekeeping, linens, 24-hour security, and recreation services are usually provided. Generally, there is a substantial entrance fee (ranging from $40,000 to $200,000) and monthly fees that guarantee shelter and access to various health care services, whether these services are prepaid or on a fee-for-service basis. Nursing facilities are licensed by the NJ Department of Health and Senior Services.

General Housing Assistance / Homelessness Prevention

Homelessness prevention programs provide limited financial assistance to low- and moderate-income tenants and homeowners in imminent danger of eviction or foreclosure due to temporary financial problems beyond their control. Funds are used to disburse payments in the forms of loans and grants to landlords and mortgage companies on behalf of eligible households in danger of homelessness.

Long-Term Care / Nursing Homes

Nursing homes provide 24-hour medical care for those who need nursing care but not hospitalization. A registered nurse or licensed practical nurse is on duty, though nurse aides provide most of the hands-on care. Some nursing homes specialize in a certain kind of care, such as care for Alzheimer's disease or rehabilitation. Compare nursing homes online at www.medicare.gov/NHCompare

Affordable Housing

Affordable housing is any home, rented or owned, in which costs comprise of less than 30% of the household monthly income. Developers may receive a tax credit from the government (known as the Low Income Housing Tax Credit) if they designate a certain number of their residential units as affordable housing units. These units must be occupied by families making less than 60 percent of the Area Median Income (AMI). Secondly, families who make less than 50 percent of the AMI may qualify to receive government subsidies to keep their rental costs at 30 percent of their income.

Rental Assistance / Section 8

Section 8 Existing Housing program, administered through the NJ Department of Community Affairs, subsidizes recipients so that they can afford decent, safe, housing in the private rental market. Applications are accepted when funding permits and a waiting list does exist. State Rental Assistance Program provides rental assistance grants, comparable to the federal Housing Choice Voucher Program, for low-income individuals or households.

Low Income Housing

Under the Tax Reform Act of 1986, "Low Income Housing" is a special housing category that affords investors special tax treatment in return for a discounted rental rate for eligible applicants. The Low Income Housing Tax Credit is a program of the Internal Revenue Service, where landlords obtain tax benefits for renting to low income households.

Subsidized Housing

Subsidized housing refers to apartments or attached housing where the amount of rent is based on the income of the household. The state or federal government usually finances construction or rental costs, and the units are sponsored by non-profit or limited-profit organizations or public housing authorities. There are usually lengthy waiting lists for subsidized housing.
