

JEVS Independence Network

Do you have a DDD consumer interested in independent living?

JEVS Human Services in coordination with Project Freedom is offering a limited number of brand-new apartments in Historic Roebling, New Jersey (Florence Township) for individuals who wish to live alone or with a roommate.

For interested individuals who qualify, JEVS will be offering support services to aid in independence which may include:

- Living independently and safely
- Assist in making connections with employment services
- Building and maintaining relationships
- Community room on site
- Managing finances and tenant responsibilities
- Regular, individual home visits to monitor safety, recommend appropriate adjustments, and provide personalized support

About the property: This seventy-two-unit apartment community is currently under construction. It will feature one-, two-, and three-bedroom apartments surrounding a large Community Center for individuals and families with and without disabilities. The buildings will be three stories with private entrances in front and will be barrier-free and accessible for people using wheelchairs. The buildings will have elevators, and central heat/air conditioning that incorporate Energy Star design features as well as being LEEDs compliant. Ample off-street parking adjacent to each building will provide easy access to each unit.
